

Ms. Leah Brown

Aten Solutions, Inc.
Cary, NC

Leah Brown Owner and President of A10 is unwavering in her vision for the company; to provide exceptional, compassionate, highly-talented clinical research professionals to projects that traditionally experience healthcare disparities. With a total of 20 years in the healthcare/regulatory compliance consulting space, Leah has a JD from the University of Kentucky, and was admitted to the North Carolina Bar in 1992. She also possesses the distinguished designation of Certified in Healthcare Compliance (CHC) and an IT degree from Virginia Commonwealth University. Most recently, she successfully completed two Executive Management Programs at The Tuck Business School and The Kellogg School of Business. Prior to Leah establishing A10, she was responsible for the marketing, architecture and coordination of complex technical solutions for hospitals and academic medical systems. She also served as Area Vice President for CHC Healthcare.

Leah Brown is an awareness writer and speaker for workforce issues impacting clinical research. She has authored several articles including “Retention: An important Factor of Minority Subjects in Research” and “Taking Clinical Research Careers to a new “Life”.

Leah serves on the Board of Directors for Diversity Alliance for Science, Inc.; Pharmaceutical/Bio-Tech Industry Chair – CMSDC; Member, Association of Clinical Research Professionals, Forum-At-Large Women Business Enterprise National Council and the Advisory Board for Enterprising Women Magazine.

About Aten Solutions, Inc.

We are A “10”! A10 offers two major lines of services; Clinical Research and Clinical Care.

Clinical Research

A10 Clinical Solutions (A10) helps its clients get their life-saving, innovative, investigational new drugs to market faster and safer by the quality management of critical clinical trials.

A10 is known for its outstanding thought-leadership and is one of only a handful of certified woman and minority owned firms that provide clinical trials services. A10 Supports functional outsourcing for phase I-IV clinical trials that contribute to the FDA approval of therapeutic products for global biotech and pharmaceutical clients and studies conducted by government agencies and academic medical centers.

Clinical Care

A10 Clinical Care helps its clients achieve measurable cost savings by providing tenured healthcare professionals ready to make an immediate contribution. This just-in-time service reduces the increasing economic-impact of human resources expenses.

A10 also focuses on maintaining healthy employees in an eco-friendly environment. To that end, A10 clients benefit from improved productivity, reduction in absenteeism, medical cost containment through the development of on-site “green” occupational health centers (C3). A10’s C3 centers offer a customized suite of services that integrate with existing health programs that improve employee health, client’s financial health and the health of the environment.

Minority Business Development Agency

Minority Service Firm of the Year